Subject: Changes to the Atlantic Tropical Weather Discussion Issuance
Times Effective On or About December 2, 2024

Effective on or around Monday, December 2, 2024, the Atlantic Tropical Weather Discussion (TWDAT) issuance times will move forward by 10 minutes. This text-based discussion is issued by the National Hurricane Center's (NHC) Tropical Analysis and Forecast Branch (TAFB), four times per day. The TWDAT describes significant weather features, areas of disturbed weather, expected trends, the meteorological reasoning behind the forecast, model performance, and in some cases a degree of confidence.

The issuance time change is being made to ensure a better quality product by accommodating deadlines associated with other critical products. The new issuance times of the TWDAT will be 0015 UTC, 0615 UTC, 1215 UTC and 1815 UTC beginning on or around December 2, 2024.
